Gossip among politicians in many quarters about Washington foday was confined for the major part to the barbs of invective burled at the Wilson Administration by Joseph G. Cannon, former Speaker of the House in a Lincoln Day speech delivered at Peoria, III., vesterday. "Uncle Joe" is out for elecon to the House of Representatives.

After throwing oral vitriol at "The bemocratic rainbow of prosperity." "the new freedom ' and "the constitution of scace" the famous old Republican war horse led up to his culogy of Lincoln by a caustic treatment of President Wil-son's precedent-breaking.

Some one has said that a precedent embodies a principle, declared the former Speaker, "and the human race has been living under precedents since the time of Moses. Some of them may have led in the ways of error, but the devil was the first smasher of prece-dents, and he has been busy through several thousand years trying to smash "No, I would not intimate that the devil could even get into the White House grounds, but some of the precedents the Pres'dent has been smashing have the President has been smashing have lived through a hundred years. They were Democratic, too." "Uncle Joe," directed special reference to the President's action in abolishing the New Year reception at the White House and of delivering his message in person to Congress.

"The Democrats have broken another precedent the Republican precedent of precedent-the Republican precedent of osperity," he concluded.
